2013 Banner Year for Becker Meisel Real Estate Group

Livingston, N.J., February, 2014 – Becker Meisel’s Real Estate Practice Group continues to see a steady increase in real estate transactions, having had an outstanding year in real estate volume in 2013. Over the past year, the firm’s real estate attorneys have represented real estate developers, landlords and tenants, sellers and buyers, and borrowers in a steady stream of real estate transactions. The firm’s real estate attorneys have closed on several significant real estate transactions involving raw land, commercial properties, retail centers, office condominiums, medical facilities, multi-family structures, hospitality facilities and other real estate establishments. In addition, with the continued easing of the capital markets, the firm’s real estate lawyers have represented borrowers in financing transactions in all areas of real estate financing - from the financing of apartment buildings to the financing of retail and professional office complexes. Anthony J. Vizzone, a member of the firm’s Real Estate Group and Business Services Group stated “We have seen tremendous upside over the recent two years in real estate transactions across the board. I would estimate that our real estate attorneys have closed in excess of $100 million dollars in real estate transactions over the recent two year period and, with the real estate market steadily improving, we expect that 2014 will also be a banner year for our Real Estate Practice Group in terms of volume of work and continued enhancement of services to our real estate clients.”
